TEACHING THE SILK ROAD: THE PAST, PRESENT & FUTURE OF THE GLOBAL MARKET

WHEN: SATURDAY, APRIL 17TH, 2010
WHERE: THE UNIVERSITY OF KANSAS
318 BAILEY HALL
1440 JAYHAWK BLVD.
LAWRENCE, KS

Come and learn with our specialists about this fascinating ancient-but-modern topic. Our presenters will discuss Mongolia and Central Asia, how the Global Market is affecting the economy, educational systems, culture, religion, and governments of the countries in this region.

FEATURING

BATTSETSEG SERJ (CEAS, KU):
"Silk Road and Cultural Exchange: Past and Present (The Case of Mongolia)"

ASEL ABDYROMANOVA (The Faculty of International Relations and State Service, International Relations Department, Osh State University, Kyrgyzstan):
"Cities of the Great Silk Road: The Impact of the Global Market on Osh, Uzgen, Balasagun and Tash Rabat (The Case of Kyrgyzstan)"

ARSEN TLEPPAYEV (Senior Lecturer, Department of Economics and Business, Kazakh National University, Almaty, Kazakhstan):
"Relations between the Countries of the Silk Road Region: The Economics of Oil and Gas (The Case of Kazakhstan)"

MATTHEW STEIN (Central Asian Research Specialist for FMSO, Fort Leavenworth):
"Making Connections to the Khans: Education in Kazakhstan and Turkmenistan"

NADIA KARDASH (Economic Education, CEE, KU):
"Teaching Globalization and World Trade through History and Geography: Lesson Demonstration and Literature Connections"

To obtain a complete program please visit:

BRING YOUR STUDENTS!

PARTICIPANTS WILL RECEIVE FREE OF CHARGE CURRICULUM MATERIALS.

Workshop is free of charge and offers a chance to earn professional credit.
In addition to earning professional credit, you may elect to be a "teacher-scholar" associated with our centers and earn $100!

PLEASE REGISTER. SPACE IS LIMITED.
TRAVEL GRANTS ARE AVAILABLE.

To register contact Tatiana Wilds: tw@ku.edu or 785-864-4237